

Two of the members weren't at the meeting but we discussed implementing contract forms, email functionalities, and assigned tasks for the next sprint.

- The team discussed implementing a contract form on the website that would send an email to stakeholders.
- They also talked about the need to find a way to send emails for user registration and discussed using a Gmail account with PHPmailer.
- They assigned tasks for the next sprint, including working on forms and styling, and testing the database on personal servers.
- Derek tasked with finding a way to send emails
- Heidi tasked with setting up the initial lost item form using the way its formatted in SQL
- Cooper to style the about page
